Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 5-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gifford (US 3,439,575). Gifford discloses a screw comprising a threaded first rod or push rod (1) including a thread and a smooth guide shaft (3) projecting from the end of the shaft having a diameter between the major and minor thread diameters (see the Fig.) and thereby forming a shoulder at the transition to the threaded portion. There is also provided a second rod or output rod having tapped internal thread (2) which include thread ridges and once the first rod is threaded therein the shoulder inherently would engage a nearest ridge and due to the resiliency thereof, would prevent the first rod from coming loose. The self-tapping of the prepared smooth bore including the squeezing into the external thread is a method limitation and considered as a product-by-process wherein it is only the final product which is considered. The combination with a break booster is considered an intended use of which the threaded connection of Gifford would be capable. Lastly, once assembled, the device of Gifford would be integral since it is a unitary structure.

In Response to the Remarks

Applicant argues that the prior art, in particular Gifford, does not disclose the annular step because the drawings in Gifford show the end of the coating as concaved portion and the thread extends thereto without forming a step. In response, while agreeing with applicant as to what is shown in Gifford, the examiner disagrees with applicant's conclusion that the construction of Gifford does not provide for the annular step. Specifically, the applicant is referred to the end of the coating which forms a convex shape when viewed in cross-section as in the Fig. It is this convex portion which the examiner equates the annular step. In that regard, when the annular step is considered as the only the convex portion of the coating of Gifford, as described, it formed between the thread and the smooth guide shaft and furthermore, there is no requirement that the annular step cannot be convex.

The rejection involving Gehring has not been applied to the new claims therefore the arguments in regards thereto are now moot.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
